

Christian radio is of extreme importance in my household. K-LOVE radio is one of many Christian radio stations that our family listens to. I have been a subscriber/donator to K-LOVE radio for approximately 6 years because I believe in their programming and music choices that they provide. This is important to me and my family and community because it provides good solid, clean music and programming that I know I can allow my children, and anyone else's children, to listen to without being offended by crude lyrics and program content provided by other non-Christian based radio programs. The last thing our government needs to do is regulate something that provides an excellent example of what we all need in our lives. Listen to the lyrics in music provided on Christian radio and compare them to lyrics in music provided on non-christian radio stations. You will not be embarrassed nor offended by anything the disc jockeys say on the air, nor by the lyrics to any of the songs played on the air of Christian radio. However, listen to the music provided on general radio. Listen to what the disc jockeys discuss on their morning shows and afternoon shows, for that matter. I will not listen to any radio program that condones sex, violence or crudity during their broadcasts. I know many other people that feel the same way that I do.

In my opinion, the FCC needs to regulate general radio not Christian radio! Let's form community advisory boards to regulate their filth! I will be the first one to sign up.

Christian radio programs do not need to be required to provide community advisory boards to regulate them. They have done nothing wrong. They already bear a large enough burden just maintaining budget to stay on the air!

If you change the rule which gives priority to many new LPFM rather than translator stations, this would wipe out many of the K-LOVE programming stations.

Why would you want to do that when it will directly affect our communities and children?

This is just one more way to take God out of our lives. I don't agree with it and I hope when you make your decisions about these new rules that you will take into account all of the responses you get online and in the mail regarding these matters.
